Children's Museum of the Lowcountry Offers FREE Admission to Celebrate Father's Day

Charleston, SC (June 16, 2016)— The Children's Museum of the Lowcountry (CML) invites families in the Charleston area to celebrate Father's Day with a day of play at the Children's Museum. All fathers will receive free admission to CML on Sunday, June 19, from 12pm until 5pm.

"Father's Day is focused on honoring dads and giving them the opportunity to make memories with their children. Here at CML, we want to encourage fathers to spend time playing with their little ones all year long, but especially on their very own holiday," Nichole Myles, CML's Executive Director, said. "We invite the whole family to come out and celebrate!"

Families will have plenty of play to choose from at CML. Children are encouraged to use Art Room materials to paint a family portrait to commemorate the day. At 3:30 p.m., all families are invited to tackle the Brown Bag STEM Challenge for $2/family, using materials found in the brown bag to design and build their very own project. In WaterWise, an exhibit all about water, children can challenge Dad to a boat race! No pre-registration is needed for fathers to receive free admission on Sunday, June 19. All grown-ups must be accompanied by a child for entrance to CML.
